Almas Temple. Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will hold their first meeting of the fall series Oct. 6, when a large class of candidates will be given their first camel ride in a blaze of glory. It is going to be a Zem-Zem-Al-Risched-Mooka-al-Sol-Bo-nan-za, and the sands will be—well, hot yes yery hot. hot; yes, very hot.

Bro, Joseph C. Taylor, 33d degree, Commander Robert de Bruce Council of Kadosh, is spending a few days at Cherry Stone Villa. Bro. Taylor evidently finds the place very attractive, as this is his third visit this season. Past Master J. H. Austin has just returned from the above resort looking hale and hearty. looking hale and hearty.

The association has a good field for work, and will ultimately accomplish much good in the jurisdiction. Past Grand Master Donelson, the president, is very earnest in watching the affairs of the organization. the organization.

residence of the deceased the casket was opened and the lodge viewed the remains, and then escorted them to the Lutheran Memorial Church, where services were conducted by the Rev. J. G.
Butler, pastor, at the conclusion of which the lodge took charge of the body, and the funeral cortege proceded to the cemetery. On the arrival at the vault, the temporary place of interment, a large concourse of friends were found assembled to witness the Masonic ceremonies. The lengthening shadows of twilight had begun to gather, and the quietand solemnity of the scene rendered if very impressive, Reverently, tenderly, and carefully the casket, borne by the brothers and comrades of the dead, was carried between the uncovered and open ranks of the lodge, followed by the relatives and friends, who gathered near the entrance to the vault.

ing the "De Profundis" as the lodge in reverse order slowly filed down the avenue and formed a circle around the casket. As the last notes of the beautiful chant died away the Rev. Dr. Butler stepped between the crossed rods of the Deacons and delivered the committal service of his church. The Worshipful Master then read the first section of the Masonic burial ritual, at the conclusion of which the choir sang "Abide With Me." The lambskin was then deposited upon the casket by the Worshipful Master and the brethren, passing around the remains, dropped the sprig of evergreen upon the casket, the choir singing the Master Masons' chant. The grand honors were then given, the reading of the ritual concluded with prayer by the Chaplain of the lodge. Dr. York, and the services were ended with the bymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Butler.

Past Grand Master James A. Watt is still look-ing after the interest of Mechanics' Lodge No. 18. Covenant Lodge No. 13 at Georgetown has four candidates for its next meeting.

The fair committee of Naomi Lodge is fully organized, with Mrs. E. A. Thompson, President; Mrs. Sarah M. Sanderson, Assistant Secretary; Capt. R. A. McLean, Secretary, and Maj. W. P. Allan, Treasurer.

Allan, Treasurer.

The statistics of the encampment branch of the order in the District of Columbia for the six months ended June 30, 1890, show a membership, in four encampments, of 434, or about one-fourth the membership of the fifteen suburdinate lodges, which, in view of the fact that membership in an encampment is dependent upon membership and continued good standing in a subordinate lodge, is about the proportion of Odd Fellows who attain to the sublime degrees of the Patriarchal order. The gain in membership during this period was but three, whereas it should and would have been thirty but for the large number of members suspended for the non-payment of dues. During this period of six months but two deaths occurred among the membership, which is a death-rate of less than ten per thousand per year. The amount paid for the relief of members not as a charity, but as their right) and to widowed families was $921, which was about 72 per cent. of the aggregate receipts from ordinary sources. Thus it will be seen that the benevolence of the order is not a theoretical but a practical fact. The financial standing of the several encampments is excellent, they having a surplus fund of nearly ten thousand dollars invested and held in trust for the benevolent uses of the order. the benevolent uses of the order.

Independent Order Mechanics.

Lafayette Lodge No. 13, I. O. M., held its usual meeting Thursday evening, Junior Master Fagan in the chair. Bros. J. C. Anderson and J. C. Simpson having wended their weary way through the varied scenes and entangling mazes of the 2d degree their worn-out spirits were invigorated by an original song by Bro. B. F. Taylor. Messrs. R. H. Chase and Walter S. Wrenn were elected to membership. Grand Architect T. H. Watson, Grand Conductor G. W. Berry, and Worthy Master Plager, of Columbia Lodge, were present. On next Thursday evening the lodge will meet at 7:30 o'clock to enable members to attend an entertainment given by Capital Lodge No. 24, K. of P. Anchor Lodge held its regular meeting on Anchor Lodge held its regular meeting on Monday evening with Junior Master S. W. Gillingham in the chair. An application for reinstatement was received from Bro. George S. Thomas. Messrs. Potbuny and Thomas made application for membership. After going through with the general routine of business the lodge closed to give way to the Grand Lodge, which held a very important meeting.

Independent Order of Rechabites. Eagle Tent No. 2 at its last meeting had three candidates for initiation.

The second number of the Rechabite Advocate has been received and presents a prosperous and creditable appearance. It contains, besides in-teresting historical reminiscences, able editorials on the temperance question, news of the progress of the order, extracts from speeches made by the High Chief Ruler while in New York, and a picture and a biographical sketch of High Secretary-Treasurer Patterson.

Virginia Tent No. 5, Alexandria, is rapidly increasing in membership under Chief Ruler George Lyles. Deputy High Chief Ruler Edgar Thompson, of Virginia Tent No. 5, Alexandria, proposes to do some more work in the way of organization in the near future. A delegation of Washington Rechabites will visit Baltimore in the interest of the order next week.

Friendship Tent No. 73 had an interesting meeting Monday night. A number of visitors were present, the occasion being the initiation of Mr. M. E. Byrne, a prominent temperance advocate from Massachusetts. After the initiation there was a general interchange of views for the good of the order, among those participating being Grand Chief Ruler E. S. Woodford, Past High Representatives R. H. —A joint resolution has been introduced in the House providing that all District street railroads must plainly designate on their cars the routes on which said cars run. Where a road has branch lines, on which some cars run to one point and some to another point, their destination must be plainly marked on both sides of every car. A penalty of $25 is provided for a violation of this regulation.
